Australian government has enacted that the price at which wheat is to be sold in this district is 85 cents per bushel.

The Canadian Year Book gives the total of bushels of grain milled for domestic use in 1935-36 at 44,815,000. Wheat sold at
$3.49,000. Wheat sold at $1.00 per bushel for domestic use would save some distance toward reducing the deficit as declared by the Eastern friends.

In this proposal would there be a hardship upon the home consumer is enquired by the know facts. Bread sold at 10 cents a loaf when wheat cost 10 cents at $1.25 per bushel last season; now that wheat can be bought by mail strategically located at 614 cents No. 1 (locally grown) bread is selling at 9 cents a loaf. No one is so foolish as to expect bread to cost half as much under these circumstances, since the old and well-worn story of labor, equipment and transportation costs applies equal force to the flour as to the trade as to the children with wool, or the shoemaker with leather. The price of material, we are informed, should be fairly in the minimum list of costs for the finished product.

The Dominion government has done well by the Western wheat producer for years. It has not speaking, he is well satisfied, but it is quite unlikely that once leaving the hands of government protection he will have with equal the fruits of being again at the mercy of world prices. The Wheat Board will not have such measures as outlined above to be adopted to help meet the cost. It may be that there are obstacles present in Canada that prevent so following the example of Australia and Great Britain, and that so the wheat can be sold to be informed as to their nature.

A freak electric storm, accompanied by hail and rain, broke over the district on Tuesday afternoon of last week, causing a further delay in threshing. A brief wind all day Thursday led to dry days and outlets started again on Friday afternoon. Since then the weather has been bright and sunny with heavy night frosts.

The attention of farmers is called to the sale of selected Yorkland grain on Saturday, Oct. 20. With cattle grain plentiful and cheap this is an opportune time to get into the winter buying business. The stock offered are selected by the Dominion Live Stock Branch and in the event of twenty cattle being sold, the department will provide a loan for one per purchaser.
